COMMENCING MONDAY, September 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, 1887.

INTRODUCTORY.

WE WISH TO EXTEND TO THE PUBLIC OF ATLANTA, AND VICINITY, a most cordial invitation for one and all to visit our new store, which we have refitted in a most thorough manner—sparing neither time nor expense to make it in every respect a modern store.

And We Leave it to the Public to Judge of Our Success.

We shall always be ready to display goods, whether customers desire to purchase or not, also to give samples or any information desired. It will be our aim at all times to please our patrons to represent goods only as they are, and all goods bought of us, not proving satisfactory, may be returned.

This Store is here to stay, as well as ourselves, and by honorable dealings and low prices we hope to obtain the confidence and good will of the public. Our facilities for doing business here will be of the very best. We shall at all times be represented in Boston and New York markets by a resident buyer, who is considered one of the shrewdest buyers entering these markets. By this means we shall be enabled to offer our patrons unheard of bargains—a fact which frequent visits to this store will prove. Our specialties will be Black and Colored Silks, Foreign and American Dress Goods, Mourning Goods, Gloves, Hosiery, Linens, Lacis, Ribbons, Buttons and Dress Trimmings, Underwear, Shawls, Outside Garments and

ART EMBROIDERIES.

This department will be sure to please and meet the approval of every lady who may desire such goods. With a competent person in charge of this important department, we shall hope to meet the wants of our patrons. Call and see our store and goods. We can show you novelties not to be found outside of "The Bee Hive."

Bear in mind that for these opening days we propose to give to the public bargains such as have never before been offered. Our opening days being for five consecutive days, we shall offer extra inducements for each day's sale which will be of special value to those who visit us.

It will pay you to come early and often, whether to purchase or not. Read carefully every word of this announcement, then be sure and read our extra inducements for each opening day's sale, besides our regular bargain throughout our entire stock.

DRESS GOODS!

Black and Colored Silks and Mourning Goods are very important departments in a store, and any lady who desires to purchase a dress cannot afford to overlook these departments. We claim without hesitation that we shall and will exhibit not only the largest, but the finest display to be found in this city. Our goods, you will please remember, are entirely new, fresh goods, comprising many novelties which are confined exclusively to

"THE BEE HIVE,"

And are worthy the attention of every lady of this city. Remember in reading our prices you will at once exclaim,

HOW CHEAP! CAN THE GOODS BE RELIABLE?

We would say that we guarantee every article SOLD. Our goods are purchased with the combination of many of the largest stores of the eastern markets.

At many times closing out the entire productions of the mills together with being identified with the importers direct, gives us the chance of offering our customers unheard of bargains, as will be seen by reading this advertisement.

Dress Goods! Dress Goods!!

For these, our opening days, we offer special inducements. Note the price; come and see the quality. These goods need no recommendation from us, otherwise than to state that never before has any store ever offered them to the public at such prices, in any part of the south. Why do we do it? Because we want your trade. How can we do it? Because it's done in all large cities, like New York and Boston, and we are the ones to believe that the people of Atlanta and vicinity will appreciate our efforts to give them goods at reasonable prices. Are we correct?

THE THREE GUNS

Which Turned the Tide of Battle at Bull Run.

THE WORK OF CHAPMAN'S BATTERY

General Longstreet Settles a Long Disputed Question—It Was Chapman's Battery That Did the Work.

No battle of the civil war has been so much discussed as the second battle of Manassas or Bull Run. The literature of this one battle would make a large library, and would contain contributions from distinguished military men on both sides, from non-combatant critics, from statesmen and historians, and from foreign authorities.

The battle, considered merely as a great military engagement, would have occupied a large place in history and would have inspired much ephemeral literature but for one reason, on account of one angry dispute, it has continued to be a live issue for a quarter of a century after its smoke had died away.

The interminable controversy over the Fitzjohn Porter case has caused the second Bull Run to be fought over a thousand times since it was fought in reality by Jackson and Longstreet on one side, and Porter, and McRae, and McPherson on the other.

For fifteen years the Porter case was before Congress and the fierce discussion of it has kept every incident of this battle fresh in the popular mind. Porter's case involved not only a party question, but it came into play almost a party question, and next anti-democratic administration came into power the battle in the name of the gallant general set right, and then only by an act which was by no means commensurate with the wrong which had been endured by Porter for twenty-three years.

The details and circumstances of this battle are far more familiar to the popular mind than those of any other battle of the civil war, not excepting Gettysburg, the desperate struggle which broke the back of the confederacy.

The final cyclone was constructed in this country represents the second Manassas. Its cost $125,000 and is a most like trial of the battle at its turning point.

This cyclone is on exhibition in Washington, which is only about one-half the circumference of the battle. It has been viewed by hundreds of thousands of spectators, among whom were many men who shared in the deadly struggle then depicted with such mimic power.

It is strange that after all that has been said and written about this battle that there should be inaccuracies and misunderstandings about some of the most important features of it.

Everybody agrees that the tide of the fight was turned by the use of the opportunity of.

A few words.

of the confederate artillery. On this point both Federal and confederate authorities coincide. At the battle of Bull Run, the second day of the month of August, 1862, the second day of the battle, Fitzjohn Porter's corps had come up. It bore the brunt of the severe fighting of that day. In the afternoon at half past three o'clock, Porter made a determined assault on the hill, and was repulsed with great loss. Jackson's men were worn out and being pressed by fresh troops were about to give way. Longstreet was on Jackson's right, and if

THE WAR IN CUBA.

Attack on the Key West Filibusters.

THE SPANISH SOLDIERS ARE REPULSED

And Leave Three of Their Number Dead—
Dynamite Bombs are Used by the Filibusters—Other News.

NEW ORLEANS, La., September 10.—A special from Key West says: While in ambush some miles from Matanzas, Thursday afternoon, just after landing, a band of Cuban filibusters, which left here recently, were attacked by a detachment of three hundred Spanish soldiers. The latter were repulsed, leaving three of their number dead and carrying off five who had been wounded by the dynamite bombs thrown by the filibusters. Four of the Cubans were wounded, but not all seriously, by shots from the soldiers. The filibusters then made their way into the interior, and private advices received by the leader, by a representative of the cause here this morning, announces that they have joined those who had preceded them. It is believed here that certain Spanish smacks, the property of wealthy Cuban home-owners, sailing out of Havana, and which are supposed to be in the fishing trade, are really doing a profitable business smuggling aguardiente to Florida mainland and carrying arms and reinforcements on their return to Cuba from Tampa to this city. Two Spanish gunboats have been cruising in sight of this island all day.

THEY WILL SALUTE HER.

The Orders of Parade of the Grand Army Amended.

PHILADELPHIA, September 10.—The order of Department Commander Harper of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be observed on Friday next, day of the anniversary of the organization which has provoked considerable criticism, owing to omission of any reference to President Cleveland, was explained as follows: The order directs that the colors be conveyed to the president of the United States our best thanks for his presence at the ceremony of the inauguration of this congress.

JOHN WRIGHT. William Silvey, George Silvey, John Denny, E. H. Denny and W. F. Crenshaw, before the Medical Convention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9th, 1887.—[Special correspondence to the Constitution.]—The great international medical congress, now in session in this city, is the largest ever held, and your correspondent is pleased to note that our "own Atlanta" is bearing off all full shares of honors. This, in the face of all the divided opinion, in which each are represented, goes to show that Atlanta has never been left.

In the section of dental and oral surgery, Dr. Crenshaw, of Atlanta, has won a most enviable and coveted position in the dental profession. This distinguished gentleman, who has no introduction to the good people of Atlanta, who has not elicited a claim to the dental section, and it was your correspondent's good fortune to witness his demonstration of the practicability of restoring to original forms, molars and bicuspids, which had been by decay and injudicious separation, restored to their original form in the doge, restoring to normal action and condition, teeth that had been practically abandoned, and only fit to be extracted. Dr. Crenshaw presented in the mouth of Dr. Robert B. Adair, of Gainesville, Ga., himself a dentist of considerable note, a series of some eight or ten cases of teeth, all of which were extracted, beginning with the second upper molar (right side), restoring in an absolutely perfect manner its approximal and grinding, or masticating surface to original form. Dr. Crenshaw also demonstrated in how he had labored in the dental manner, treated the first molar and second bicuspids, concluding the clinic operation in the first bicuspids.

In view of certain unforeseen and unexpected difficulties preventing them in this particular case, the result obtained a full and most clear stamp of originality, and it is your correspondent's good fortune to have won the first place. The men are all young, of good character, none of them being over 21 years of age. There is no blood-thirsty demand for vengeance, and it is generally believed that the sentence will be mild.

SENSATION IN COURT.

The Bald Knobbers Enter a Plea of Guilty.

AND ASK FOR THEIR SENTENCES

A General Belief that the Missouri Ku Klux Will Get off with Light Penalties—
Other Criminal News.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., September 10.—The trial of the Bald Knobbers came to a sudden termination yesterday afternoon by the defendants in a body entering a plea of guilty. In the morning Colonel Boyd, their counsel, showed fight, and the case of George Dean was called. He was charged with bulldozing a homesteader, Ridonow, John Denny and George Silvey were arraigned for whipping Caleb Atwood, and entered a plea of not guilty. Colonel Boyd asked for a severance of the two cases, which was denied. He then objected to the jury on the ground that it was prejudiced from hearing the other case. The court ordered the trial to proceed.

Resolved: That on the part of the foreign government, it is the desire of the government to convey to the president of the United States our best thanks for his presence at the ceremony of the inauguration of this congress.

MACON'S BAR MEETING.

Judges Simmons and Gustin to be Banqueted.

A RECEPTION NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

Given in Honor of the Two Distinguished Judges—General News of Interest from the Central City.

MACON, Ga., September 10.—[Special.]—This morning, after the setting of cases in the court, in the superior court room, the bar of the city had a meeting to review the fixing of fees in the examination of titles, records, etc.

Colonel R. S. Lanier was called to the chair, and the object of the meeting being stated, Mr. W. D. Darrow moved that a committee of five be appointed to examine into the matter and report to the bar association. The court court moved to set cases. The motion was seconded, but there were subsequent motions and amendments, and considerable discussion ensued. All motions and amendments were, however, withdrawn and the original motion carried, and the following general resolution adopted by the chair:—“We, the Augusta Steamship company, thank the chairmen, Messrs. Isaac Hamerman, N. E. Harris, G. P. Clegg, C. L. Bartlett, W. A. Lofton.

The object of the meeting grew probably out of the fact that sometime in March there was a bar meeting with regard to the examination of titles, records, etc., and a resolution or an agreement entered into by the bar, with probably the exception of two members of the bar who did not sign the agreement, which was to be made by the committee that members probably have been charging a less per cent for the examination, hence the meeting. The committee will report next Saturday morning.

The reporter was appointed Mr. Washington Darrow moved that a committee of five be appointed to arrange for a banquet to be tendered Judges Simmons, of the supreme court, and Gustin, of the Macon circuit, to be given by the bar, and that the committee be authorized to make all the necessary arrangements for making the occasion a pleasant one. It was seconded by Messrs. Bartlett and Patterson, and was carried unanimously. The chair appointed the following a committee of five: Mr. Darrow, W. A. Lofton, J. L. Hardman, O. J. Wimberly, B. M. Davis, S. A. Reid.

After the committee was appointed the bar made Colonel R. S. Lanier chairman of the committee to make arrangements for the banquet. The meeting then adjourned.

The occasion will not be enjoyed by the friends of the two distinguished gentlemen in whose honor it will be given.

The people of Macon are very much elated over the meeting of Judges Simmons and Gustin, and they cannot do too much for the honorable gentlemen.

The banquet will be given by the members of the bar alone. Judge Simmons returned home last night, and has received many callers today, who call simply to congratulate him and express their gratification at his election.

THOMISON A DEFAULTER.

He Turns Out to Have Been a Financial Trifler.

SAVANNAH, Ga., September 10.—[Special.]—Summits and speculations upon Mr. Thompson's absence continued to be indulged in to-day. The motive for his abrupt departure appears to be entirely involved in financial complications.

For the last six months Mr. Thompson has effected heavy loans in the firm's name with the Savannah Bank and Trust company, of this city. These loans amount to over $100,000. After Mr. Thompson's absence was noted in the columns of the Advertiser, it was the day of Mr. McDonald's return from New York, the officials of the Savannah Bank and Trust company sought Mr. McDonough, and had a conference with him relative to the paper held by that of McDonough & Co. This paper amounted to a sum exceeding over $100,000, as above stated. Mr. McDonald had informed at this state of affairs, and stated that he was unaware of such loans, but that his firm would assume them as they were in the firm's name, though it had not been the practice of the firm to have any connection with the Savannah Bank and Trust company.

These loans were secured by collateral and endorsements, with the exception of about $15,000, and the bank feels perfectly secure for the entire amount, the firm of McDonough & Co. accepting the liability for the paper negotiated by Mr. Thompson. The amount of $15,000 above mentioned was lent upon drafts against lumber that the bank had not as yet been able to trace. Mr. Thompson's whereabouts are still a matter of public conjecture, and information upon the subject can only be obtained from a withdrawal from the firm of McDonough & Co. is announced. The firm will hereafter consist of J. J. McDonough and Ed. Burdett.

THE JASPER ASSOCIATION.

The Trouble with a Defaulting Secretary.

SAVANNAH, Ga., September 10.—[Special.]—The 69th meeting of the Jasper loan association was held last night. The report of Mr. Jordan F. Brooks, appointed at Mr. D. C. Kennedy's request, to examine the books of the association, was looked for, but was not furnished. A letter from Mr. Brooks was read by the president, stating that it had been impossible to conclude his work, as there was a vast amount of detail to be done, and he had to leave.

A FINE SHOWING.

The Semi-Annual Statement of the People's Loan and Building Association—No Better Institution for Those Desiring to Secure Homes of Their Own.

Officers.—R. W. Tidwell, president; W. W. Boyd, vice-president; E. P. McBurney, secretary and treasurer.

Directors.—R. W. Tidwell, W. W. Boyd, E. P. McBurney, R. Schmidt, W. C. Dodson, John A. Miller, J. K. G. O. Williams, A. J. Stewart, J. T. Stocks, and T. M. Harris.

Deputy—W. M. & R. J. Lowry.

Stock may be secured from any of these parties.

The Rev. E. P. McBurney, secretary and treasurer of the People's Loan and Building Association, has made his third semi-annual report to the members of the association, detailing the beneficial results that cannot be passed over without giving it a word of commendation. This association, from its beginning, has moved on a broad, broad way, and has secured a number of many and satisfactory results for its stockholders.

The principles that underlie this institution are sound and commendable, and show to the world the great good resulting from co-operation. By paying a small monthly sum, enough money can be raised to meet all expenses, and to leave a good balance.

We know of no institution that offers better opportunities, both to the poor and rich, for the securing of comfortable homes, and for the saving of money.

It is the desire of the association to buy up all the buildings and property that have been given to it, and to use the same for the benefit of the poor.

Making Up the Exposition.

It seems incredible that the exposition buildings are now ready for making up exhibits. Less than sixty days ago the ground on which they stand was a cotton field, and as the buildings have grown the cotton has ripened in the rows alongside. In just one hundred and two days from the day the first shovel was put in the ground the exposition, covering eight acres of floor space with millions of dollar's worth of exhibits, will be open to the public as smart and handsome as if years had been consumed in making it ready.

This is a feat without precedent. Within that time the money has been raised, the plans have been perfected, buildings have been erected, the grounds beautified, the show advertised and the exhibits secured. This result is due to the perfect system and accuracy with which the enterprise has been managed. Had this failed in a single particular, irretrievable confusion would have ensued.

Now comes the most difficult part of the problem. Within three weeks over two thousand exhibitors, yes, several thousand exhibitors, must get their exhibits together, collect them in Atlanta and make them ready for the public. These exhibitors are scattered from Maine to California, and from Michigan to Texas. They cannot be reached save by suggestion, or compelled save by entreaty. If they will delay their shipments until the last week the roads will be glutted, the buildings will be confused and the plan of the exposition, admirable up to this point, will be confounded.

This editorial will reach many of the exhibitors. Let us make two suggestions. First, do not hold part of your exhibit until all is ready. Ship what can be shipped at once, and ship the balance as rapidly as possible. Second, do not wait for your exhibit to reach Atlanta before you arrange to receive it. Send your representatives to Atlanta at once, secure architects, carpenters and decorators and make your space ready. Then it will be a matter of a few hours only to put your exhibit in place. Do not rely on doing all this the last week, for it will be impossible to get workmen at that time.

As for local exhibitors, they should occupy their space at once, and have their carpenters at work. There is not a day to be lost. Let them get their exhibits ready and have the work done on their space so that they will be out of the way when the foreign exhibitors come rushing in.

We assure exhibitors at home and abroad that this is no idle threat. The exposition will be a huge show—bigger than any of them believe, and it will be impossible to handle all the material in a few days. The directors and officers will do all in their power, but for the next two weeks everything rests with the exhibitors.

The organs of the gold-bugs have been arguing that the continued coinage of silver would drive gold out of the country; but as it has had the effect of increasing the importations of gold, silver coinage must be a very good thing.

A Fresh Free Trader.

A very fresh and entertaining Georgia editor remarks that "protectionist manufacturers are men of like passions and infirmities, with the rest of the business world; and to say that they deliberately favor a system which they think will force them to pay higher wages to their employees than they would have to pay under a policy of fair and open competition with the rest of the manufacturing world, is talk impudent and inexcusable foolishness."

This is very true, but nobody talks such impudent and inexcusable foolishness but the free traders, whose arguments are all in the air. When the American manufacturers begin to find themselves the victims of European competition, they will abandon their business. They cannot do otherwise. They can compete with rivals at home who enjoy the same advantages, but they cannot compete with foreign manufacturers who employ pauper labor. American manufacturers pay their employees living wages, but they could pay them no wages at all if the free trade theorists could have their way.

The result of free trade is very interesting to farmers. If the employees of manufacturers are driven out of business, they will be compelled to become tramps, or to engage in agriculture. But what the farmers of the country want is not more producers, but more consumers.

Manufacturers in this country do not pay high wages because they want to, but because the results of protection compel them to.

The counties that excel the display of Putnam at the Piedmont exposition will have to get up very early. We mention this by way of a reminder.

An Unwise Leader.

The bloody scenes at one of the league meetings in Ireland, the other day, should be a lesson to the home rule leaders.

What the tories most desire just at present is armed resistance on the part of the Irish people. In this it is to be hoped that they will be disappointed. Still, it goes without saying that there will be trouble if the league meetings continue to be held in defiance of the law, and if the league speakers continue to inflame and excite their hearers.

At the Mitchelstown meeting one of the prominent speakers was Henry Labouchere. It was partly on account of his fiery talk that the people surged against the solid ranks of the police and were shot down. Of course, Labouchere was not in the mlece, and after it was over he left town.

In speaking of the affair the London Times remarks that, "although the leaders have amusement and profit, the people pay for it with their skins." There is a good deal of sense in this way of putting it. The orator who causes innocent blood to be shed cannot be held guiltless, and he does his more harm than good.

Labouchere has not even the excuse of being an Irishman. His indiscreet utterances are not inspired by the sufferings of his race. He is an Englishman, born in London, and his father before him was also an Englishman of French descent. Evidently, Mr. Labouchere has made a mistake in going to Ireland. In England he might be of some service to the home rule cause, but he has no business in a country where a policy of peace is the imperative necessity of the hour. Unless this impetuous tribune is dead and willing to pay for his fun with his skin, he should stay at home.

BROTHER WATTEVER will discover that he cannot injure Mr. Randall by drinking an Everett house cocktail.

A New Extradition Treaty.

Secretary Bayard is said to favor a new extradition treaty with England, which will enable us to reach over into Canada after certain classes of offenders who are now safe as soon as they skip across the border. Canada would undoubtedly favor such a treaty after the experience of recent years.

She is tired of being the refuge of all sorts of criminals from the United States.

Our treaty with England in 1842 omitted from the list of extraditable offenses a number of crimes which should have been included.

In one case the United States tried to dodge the difficulty thus presented by extraditing a person as a charge of one offense, and trying him for another.

England treated this as a violation of the treaty of 1842, and in 1871 refused to deliver a man demanded by the United States unless it should be agreed that he was not to be tried for any offense except the one alleged as the cause for extradition. This refusal led to a suspension of the treaty of 1842, under the administration of President Grant.

England secured its revival by waiving the point he had made in 1871. The decisions of our federal courts since that time have sustained the position taken by England that a man cannot be extradited for one offense and tried for another.

Last December the supreme court of the United States settled the question in favor of the position taken by England. We are now restricted in our extraditions to the list of crimes set forth in the treaty of 1842. This list does not include the offenses which cause most of the flights to Canada. The proposed treaty will probably be made very stringent, and will lay open to the invasion of offended justice that paradise of safety and repose in Canada which is a constant invitation to the United States "border."

THE HON. EUGENE HIGGINS can still be seen by the dawn's early light. The president evidently knows a good man, when he sees him.

Character Speaks for Itself.

The charge made in Henry George's paper that Cardinal Gibbons suppressed a letter in Dr. McGlynn's defense, thus causing the doctor to be uncommunicated with, out being heard, might have stirred up a little excitement if it had been directed against another man.

Under similar circumstances a small man, or a man of doubtful character, would have been called upon to repel the charge with indignation, and with all the emphasis that could have been derived from the most vituperative words in his vocabulary.

With Cardinal Gibbons it was different. Strong in the consciousness of innocence, and shielded by a spotless character, it never occurred to him that it was necessary to answer his accuser. To the reporter who called his attention to the charge, the cardinal severely said: "I have no reply to make."

FROM ALL SECTIONS

Come Responses Concerning the Escort and Parade.

A ROUSING RALLY FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

Some Important Points Touched—Who Will Address Tuesday's Meeting—Some Interesting Communications.

The outlook for the big torchlight procession is most promising. The news from the outside indicates a full attendance from all parts of the state. The young men are taking hold of the matter with great earnestness.

Some Sample Communications

From prominent gentlemen in all parts of the state may be of interest.

Mr. P. McCutchen writes from Franklin, Georgia, saying: "Allow me as a young democrat to express my hearty endorsement of your plan of escort for the president. My heart and soul are with you in the movement, and I sincerely trust and believe that it will be a triumphal and glorious success. I am satisfied I can assure you of at least one company from old Heard. I will be on hand."

Colonel Albert A. Carson, of Butler, says: "I will look to the matter at once, and let you hear from me in a few days. I think you can count on me for one company."

Captain L. L. Knight sends from Athens the names of the members of a company, which he has organized and will command. The members are prominent young men in the university.

Here is a communication which comes all the way from New Jersey. The beauty of it is that the writer will be on hand to take part in the parade. He writes the chairman as follows:

In accordance with the enclosed circular, please assign me a place in any company under your charge. On Saturday, I will be on hand myself to receive the escorting companies. I have a place in Atlanta, and I shall be there with my friends, during the exposition. Very respectfully,

FRED C. DUNBAR.

Dr. W. T. Herring writes from Grange:

"Grange will be there with a military company, and most likely with a company in ranks with torchlight procession."

From Dawson, Georgia, comes a letter from Mr. S. B. Christie, who says:

"I feel sure of the success of the reception to be given Mr. Cleveland by the young men of Georgia. That will be a very busy time with our young men, but we will see what can be done."

Captain George C. Smith writes that while it will be impossible for him to be present in person, he will be in his power to form a company at Lexington.

"I will do all I can to get up a company," writes Mr. M. H. Morrow, of Bainbridge.

"Will send up a company of twenty-five," writes W. F. Gay, of Turin, Ga. "Will send names in a few days."

"Grange has decided to send several companies," writes Captain Frank Flint, from Griffin.

"You may expect a company or more from Calhoun county," writes J. E. Mercer from Leary.

"Don't leave us out if we don't report for the 15th."

J. J. Beck, of Morgan, says that thirty-five or forty young men will come from that town.

From Fort Gaines the news comes that the Fort Gaines Guard will be on hand. Mr. J. F. Sutliff writes that they will probably take part in the torchlight procession.

"We will be there to join in the hearty welcome to our president," writes John D. Pope, of Albany, Ga.

E. M. Smith, of Thomasville, sends a copy of the Enterprise which contains the following:

"It is not often that our people have an opportunity to see a real live democratic president, and now that the chance has come, with the presence of President Cleveland at the Piedmont exposition, we are determined to make the most of it."

Continuing, the Enterprise gives an account of a rousing meeting held on Monday night. Mr. K. T. McLain presided, and Hon. R. G. Mitchell was chosen to command Thomas county's legion. It is evident that the people will be in the procession from Thomas county. "It is proposed," adds the Enterprise, "that Thomas county send the largest delegation from south Georgia."

NEW ATLANTA COMPANIES.

Mr. J. L. Lawton, of Atlanta, sends in a full report of the meeting.

Mr. Amos Baker is the captain of a company which will attract attention.

Mr. Johnny Hall says he will have a company in a few days.

Some Important Communications.

It would not be inappropriate to remark that no uniform whatever is required of any of the companies which will be in line. This is a matter left entirely to the taste of each company and the circumstances surrounding their coming. It is purely a civic display and a handsome one. The young men in citizen's clothes stands a good show of the march as offered as the most elaborate and uniformed company. No drill is necessary, and the appearance that each company comes in the line of march on the night of the procession will be the test by which it is judged.

The commissioners for captains have been made out and will be forwarded during the week.

Organize at once, send in your list to Mr. Jack J. Spalding as chairman, and get ready. The appropriate companies are forming in the city as well as out, as the committee must know who will march in order to arrange supplies and assign the companies to their proper places. No one not belonging to a regular company and bearing a torch will be permitted in the procession, and every man in Georgia agreed to become a member of some company and take part in the procession.

A Big Rally Tuesday Night.

There will be a big rally at the court house Tuesday night.

Everybody is invited.

The meeting will be held in Judge Van Epp's courtroom in the county courthouse. It will be addressed by some of the most prominent young democrats in the city and the most enthusiastic meeting may be expected. It is simply a display of young men together and discussing the different features of the torchlight procession. There will be no appeal for money or anything of the sort. It will simply be a rousing, old-fashioned rally of young men.

Among the speakers announced are Colonel J. W. Richardson, Mr. Hooper Alexander, Hon. Clark Howell and others. A royal good time may be expected and every young man in the city should be present.

When Times are Dull.

From the Tilling, Tex. Signal.

"Let's all unite, buy a gallon of sorgum, and go up a 'candy pull.' Something has got to be done to relieve the popular monotony."

Old Wine in New Bottles.

From the Book of Judges as read—

"Make me a sling."—said Robbin.

"Like those you were reading about in there. That hit the mark to the breath of a hair."

That hit the mark to the breath of a hair."

"And make another for Richard, too."

"And we'll sing as the Benjaminites did; And make another for the Judahites while—"

"A little one, mind, she's only a girl."

So I made him a sling unto that of the hosts of Benjamin passing by.

"May songs of victory tune your breath like the slingers who smoke Kir-hassath."

I smiled as I heard their exultant cry Of the hosts of Benjamin passing by.

I smiled in time, oh, foolish man.

For I smiled no more when the light began.

For the stones smashed through the window pane.

And rattled down on the roof like rain.

They pelted persons, and stones, and trees.

And beat the sides of the factory over the way.

The air was blit by the flying stones,

With stones and walls and walls and roofs;

For people who look and people who ran,

Were pelted alike by the slingin' clan.

Richard and Robert, the two mighty men,

Were slinging six ways for Sunday; but then

Baby was weeping, the sweet little maid.

For she smote herself in the shoulder blade.

Then I learned that no right-minded boy

Is a hooligan.

A long-handled Benjamin's skill to a sling,

For the aim of a left-handed, cross-eyed man.

Corrects its obliquity—none other can.

READY FOR EXHIBITS.

President Collier Says That Exhibits Should Be Set in Early.

"We are now ready," said President Collier, "to receive exhibits for the Piedmont exposition. Our installation committee has been formed, and we are ready to begin collecting the show."

"Now the exhibits will be addressed to the Piedmont."

"This should be addressed to the Piedmont."

"The display will be addressed to the Piedmont."

INSPECTION OF OILS.

Full Text of the Bill Which Recently Passed the House.

ROUTINE WORK OF SATURDAY'S SESSION

▲ Rather Dull Day in the Legislature, in Which But Little is Accomplished

—One Day's Work.

The bill that recently passed the house of representatives on the subject of the inspection of illuminating oils, amends the existing law on that subject in several particulars.

The bill provides: That immediately after the passage of the act, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of agriculture to appoint an inspection of oils at each of the following places: Atlanta, Athens, Augusta, Brunswick, Columbus, Macon, Rome, and Savannah, provided that said inspectors of oils shall not be inspectors of fertilizers.

Each said inspector shall hold their office for two years, from the 1st of January, 1888, unless sooner removed. In cases of vacancy the commissioner appoints a successor for the unexpired term. Each inspector is authorized to appoint such clerks or deputies as are requisite to the proper carrying out of the laws of this state in connection with the inspection of oils, paying said clerks or deputies out of the own compensation allowed said inspectors.

Bond in double the amount of the fees received at that point the preceding year is required of each inspector. Full compensation, inspectors receive one-half of the fees collected by them.

The fees for inspection of oils, are: For inspecting lots of 400 gallons and upwards, whether in bulk or in barrels, one-half cent per gallon; in quantities smaller, one cent per gallon; and less than 200 gallons, one and one-half cents per gallon. No difference is made in the inspection of oils in barrels from that in bulk. If the inspection is made outside of the town in which the inspector resides, he is entitled to make per mile for the miles traveled to make the inspection.

The commissioner of agriculture is required to appoint additional inspectors at other places in the state, as in his judgment may be proper and necessary to insure the inspection of oils appointed, holding the same for the same conditions and as the first-named inspectors, their compensation and bond being fixed in the same manner. Each inspector shall by himself, or deputy, respond to any demand for the inspection of oils at any place within the boundaries of the town for which said inspector is appointed, and shall receive as additional compensation, the actual traveling expenses in making such inspections to be paid by the persons for whom said inspections are made.

The mileage and travel expenses allowed the inspector in the course of his compensation for extra labor performed in making inspections, need not be accounted for. In all cases where oil is inspected in bulk, it is made the duty of the inspector to see the oil put in the barrels he has branded or marked from the barrel in which said bulk oil has been unloaded. The inspector, in his discretion, may refuse to inspect oil in bulk and require the owner or dealer to put said oil in barrels, or other packages for the retail trade, before he will accredit to it as an inspection.

He is to inspect the condition of barrels to be made at any place in this state, except where said bulk oils are unloaded and put into barrels for the retail trade. The official brands of inspectors shall in no case be used for branding barrels or cases of bulk oil put out by any other than a regularly appointed inspector or his deputy. In no case shall an inspector have as his deputy any person dealing in oils, or in the employ of any person or corporation so dealing in oil. The use of said official brand by any person contrary to the provisions of this section subjects the person using it to all the penalties prescribed in section 430 of the code.

The official inspectors at all places at which oil is stored in storage tanks of 8,000 gallons, and upwards, shall, at least once a week, take a fair sample of each of said storage tanks, and make the usual test thereof, and keep a record of all such tests.

No person shall be appointed as inspector of oils, or as a deputy, who holds any other office under the state, or in any corporation, or in any manufacturing or trading firm, or who is in any way employed by any person or corporation so dealing in illuminating oils. Each inspector is required to keep a record of the amount of oils inspected, with the name of the person or firm for whom said inspection was made, and to always keep a record for said inspection. On the first of each month he shall forward monthly reports to the commissioner of agriculture, and at the same time forward to the state treasurer one-half of all the money received by him for fees and said fees so paid in, shall become a part of the common school fund of the state.

The bill has gone to the senate.

House Routine.

On motion of Mr. Russell, of Polk, the order of business was changed to reading of bills favorable reported on.

The committee on general judiciary reported favorably on the passage of the bill amending paragraph 1, section 2, article 6 of the constitution, so as to increase the judges of the supreme court to five, as amended.

The committee on county matters reported adversely on the bill prohibiting fishing on Flint river, except with hook and line, between April 1 and October 1.

The committee on penitentiary reported back Mr. McLendon's bill amending the act regulating the location of convicts so as to permit the county commissioners to have a trial and re-trial in said county, and to provide for the appointment of prison commissioners, with the recommendation that it be read the second time and re-committed.

The committee on county matters reported adversely on the bill prohibiting fishing on Flint river, except with hook and line, between April 1 and October 1.

The committee on railroads recommended that the bill incorporating the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville railroad be paid to the state and recommended that it be read the second time and re-committed.

The committee on railroads recommended the passage of the bill for the relief of the Imperial Fire Insurance company, and to pay M. D. Weeks, of Mitchell county, for an artificial arm. They recommended that the bill for the relief of S. A. Wall & Son, of Talbot county, do not pass.

The bill was referred to a committee, which was agreed to, authorizing the special joint committee to investigate certain property of the Western and Atlantic railroad to employ sufficient clerical force to copy the evidence of records in their possession.

On motion of Mr. Howell, the bill to amend the charter of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad was made the special order for Thursday next.

On motion of Mr. Calvin the bill to establish a bureau of labor and industrial statistics was made the special order for Friday next.

Mr. McGehee offered a resolution looking to a final adjournment on the 28th inst., which was referred to the committee on rules.

After reading some sixty bills the second time, the house adjourned.

Dull Day in the House.

Yesterday was a dull day in the house of representatives. Quite a number were off on "furloughs" and a good many attended the executive court in the senate chamber. A good working quorum remained, however, in their seats, and the majority of the members monotoned on reading bills the second time.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the bill introduced by Mr. Russell, of Clarke, to establish a female university, and it is growing in popular favor.

Change of Address.

Yesterday was a dull day in the house of representatives. Quite a number were off on "furloughs" and a good many attended the executive court in the senate chamber. A good working quorum remained, however, in their seats, and the majority of the members monotoned on reading bills the second time.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the bill introduced by Mr. Russell, of Clarke, to establish a female university, and it is growing in popular favor.

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a de-praved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles,

which defied ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparative brief trial.

Mr. C. R. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Serofilia, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints. Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sores, glands, swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All suffers from blood disorders should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial—avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.
